What data we process

In the following description of our processing activities, we refer in each case to categories of personal data. A category includes several personal data, which are usually processed together for the purposes.

Personal data is information that can identify you or even make you identifiable.

We generally process the following categories of personal data for the following reasons:

Icon Contact Information:

Name, address, telephone number, email address, your ID from any social media

Reason:

If you contact us, we collect this data because we need to know who we are talking to and what we have been talking about so that we can help you with your reason for contacting us. This also applies if you leave comments on social media on our fan pages. We do not combine this data with your profile data on our platform, but we can still identify you by your social media ID.

Icon Location data:

Address, Postcode, City, Country, Longitude, Latitude

Reason:

We need these data to be able to deliver your orders. We create the longitude and latitude automatically in order to be able to process your delivery address in our other linked systems, such as our Rider app, and to display your address to our riders.

Icon profile data (master data):

Name, email address, password, telephone number, delivery addresses, interests, demographic data (age, delivery address)

Reason:

This data is your master data, which we absolutely need for our services. Without an email address / telephone number and a password, you cannot create a profile. Together with your name, this is your master data. We need your age to ensure that you are not a minor.

Icon device information and access data:

Device ID, device identification, operating system and corresponding version, time of access, configuration settings, information on Internet connection (IP address)

Reason:

With each access this information is stored by us for technical reasons. We also use parts of this information to detect suspicious behaviour at an early stage and to avert damage.

Icon Order information:

Order history, selected restaurants, invoices, order ID, comments on orders, information on payment method, delivery address, successful orders and cancelled orders

Reason:

Each time you place an order, this information will be added to your profile. You can view all this information in your profile at any time. The information should give you an overview of your own interests and previous orders. We will also use the same information to improve our services. In addition, we will anonymize this information when you request a deletion or when your profile becomes inactive in order to continue to use this information in an anonymized form to optimize our services.

Icon Communication data

Name, email address, telephone number, device ID

Reason:

If you would like to receive a newsletter, an SMS or an in-app push notification from us, we need certain information to send you the messages. Instead of addressing you with "Hey You", we find it more customer friendly to address you with your name. This category of personal information is also used by us to contact you, for example, if a product cannot be delivered and we want to offer you an alternative instead.

Icon Payment information:

Payment method, pseudonymized credit card information

Reason:

We need this information to track your payments and assign them to the orders you have placed.

Delivery information:

Name, delivery address, phone number, order ID

Reason:

In accordance with the principle of data minimization, we only provide our riders and restaurants with the information that they need from you to prepare and deliver your order.

For which purposes we process data

We process your personal data only in accordance with the strict legal requirements. We pay particular attention to the fact that all principles for the processing of personal data are taken into account. The Delivery Hero Group pays great attention to transparency. Therefore, we only process your data if this is lawful and you can reasonably expect it to be processed. If, in the course of our evaluation, we come to the conclusion that the processing cannot reasonably be expected, we will only carry out the processing with your express consent.

Account creation, SSO registration, administration of your profile

In order to be able to offer you our services, the processing of your personal data is essential. Much of this data you transmit to us and other parts of the data we collect automatically when using our platforms. Nevertheless, we endeavour to keep the amount of data as small as possible. You can help us by only sharing necessary data with us that we need to fulfill our contractual obligations.

Account creation

When creating a customer account you will be asked to enter your master data. This is absolutely necessary, as we cannot create a customer profile without this data. Your email address and telephone number are particularly important, as we can use this information to identify you in our system the next time you want to log in again. Furthermore, we would like to ask you to choose your password carefully. Do not use the same password on multiple websites. Your password should also be at least 12 characters long, at least one lowercase letter, one uppercase letter, one special character (!?#,%& etc.) and one digit.

By using this "Facebook Connect" button on our website, you can also log in or register on our website using your Facebook user data. Only if you give your express consent in accordance with Art. 6 Para. 1 (a) GDPR prior to the registration process on the basis of a corresponding note on the exchange of data with Facebook, will we receive the general and publicly accessible information stored in your profile when using the Facebook "Facebook Connect" button on Facebook, depending on your personal data protection settings on Facebook. This information includes user ID, name, profile picture, age and gender.

We would like to point out that after changes have been made to Facebook's data protection conditions and terms of use, your profile pictures, the user IDs of your friends and the friends list may also be transferred if they have been marked as "public" in your Facebook privacy settings. The data transmitted by Facebook is stored and processed by us for the creation of a user account with the necessary data, if this has been released by you on Facebook (title, first name, surname, address data, country, e-mail address, date of birth). Conversely, we can transfer data (e.g. information on your surfing behaviour) to your Facebook profile on the basis of your consent. The consent given can be revoked at any time by sending a message to us. Facebook Inc., headquartered in the USA, is certified for the us European data protection agreement "Privacy Shield", which guarantees compliance with the data protection level applicable in the EU.

Newsletter

If you have provided us with your email address when purchasing goods or services, we reserve the right to send you regular offers of similar goods or services to those already purchased from our range by email.

For example, a group of customers may receive a special newsletter promoting special deals from restaurants where customers have ordered. Other newsletters may refer to specific products that relate to a particular flavour, such as sushi, Indian delicacies or pizza.

We use different information from your order history and delivery addresses.

This is a profiling process in which we automatically process your data. The specific customer segmentation can have a legal effect on you or can have a significant effect on you in other ways if you receive certain newsletters and are not included in other campaigns.

If automated decision making leads to a negative result for you and you do not agree with this, you can contact us at contact@foodpanda.bg. In this case, we will individually assess the circumstances of your case.

Data processing outside the EU

We process your data mainly within the European Union (EU) and the European Economic Area (EEA). However, some of our service providers mentioned above are based outside the EU and the EEA.

The GDPR has high requirements for the transfer of personal data to third countries. All our data receivers have to measure up to these requirements. Before we transfer your data to a service provider in third countries, every service provider is first assessed with regard to its data protection level. Only if they can demonstrate an adequate level of data protection will they be shortlisted for service providers.

Regardless of whether our service providers are located within the EU/EEA or in third countries, each service provider must sign a data processing agreement with us. Service providers outside the EU/EEA must meet additional requirements. According to Art. 44 ff. GDPR personal data may be transferred to service providers that meet at least one of the following requirements:

a. Commission has decided that the third country ensures an adequate level of protection (e.g. Israel and Canada)

b. Standard data protection clauses adopted:

These are contractual clauses which cannot be modified by the contracting parties and in which they undertake to ensure an adequate level of data protection.

We will only transfer your data to service providers who meet at least one of these requirements. If we transfer data to third countries, these are mainly companies based in the USA or Israel.

How long we store your data

We generally delete your data after the purpose has been fulfilled. The exact deletion rules are defined in our regional deletion concepts. Different deletion rules apply depending on the purpose of the processing. Within our deletion concepts we have defined various data classes and assigned rule deletion periods to them. The data collected is marked with a deletion rule. When the retention period is met, the stored data will be deleted accordingly.

We will delete your personal data either if you wish and let us know or if your account is inactive for three years, we will also delete your account. Before this happens, you will receive a separate notification from us to the email address registered in your user account.

In addition to the deletion rules defined by us, there are other legal retention periods which we must also observe. For example, tax data must be kept for a period of between six and ten years or even longer in some cases. These special retention periods vary according to local legal requirements.

Therefore, despite your request for deletion of your data, we may still have to store some of the stored data due to legal regulations. In this case, however, we will restrict data from further processing.

Furthermore, we will continue to store your data if we have a right to do so in accordance with Art. 17 para. 3 GDPR. This applies in particular if we need your personal data for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims.
